West Bridgewater Middle / Senior High School Motto:

*"May we have the courage to change what can be changed,
patience to endure what can't be changed,
and wisdom to know the difference."*

West Bridgewater Middle / Senior High School Alma Mater:

*Through the dawn of each tomorrow
Stands our Alma Mater clear;
Firm and strong her code of ethics,
Code her students hold so dear.*

*We, your children, love you dearly,
Singing praises of you too;
There you rise our Alma Mater,
West Bridgewater, here's to you.*

*Spinning silken threads of knowledge
For the fabric of our lives,
Like a tapestry well-woven
Our Maroon and White survives.*

*Soon we'll leave your walls behind
Your corridors we know so well,
Nothing can erase your memory ...
West Bridgewater - Hail - Farewell.*

~ Robert A. Coelho '56

To the Class of 2000:

When you think about your childhood and what you've done and where you've gone to get where you are today it's hard sometimes not to get lost in the memories. We have all spent so many times together, and no matter what has happened, we have all changed and grown up together. It's unbelievable that it's finally time to take a good look around at each and every one of your classmates and wonder what it would be like not to have them right where you would expect them to be when you walk into a classroom filled with unfamiliar faces. We often take for granted how much we have when we're young, and sooner or later, we're going to look back and wish we were right where we are today.

Everyone will soon be sitting in their caps and gowns on graduation day, looking over at their friends and remembering how much fun they had together, and then, we will start to realize that this is really happening and that we have finally made it. There is nothing more upsetting than realizing that something is coming to an end, but when it is time to walk proudly up to receive our diplomas, we will all look around in amazement that we have finally made it.

Most of the time, when we're in school, we don't understand that we are actually learning things that will one day be of some value to us. Every one of us was required to take math courses which will help us deal with balancing our check books and paying our bills. During English class, we were all taught at one time or another to look at both sides of a story, which is important to remember with any real life situation. In history class, we were taught what it means to be an American citizen, and how lucky we are to live in a free country.

Growing up in the nineties has been a lesson on its own which has taught us more than we bargained for. We watched as teen violence became a horrifying occurrence in the tragic Columbine shootings. This event was a rude awakening to students as they watched teenagers their own age mourn over the death of fellow classmates. It's too bad that these shooters felt that this was their only way out of their state of mind, and now the rest of us will be reminded everyday that this could happen to anyone, even us. We watched as the President of the United States became a nation's spectacle as a result of his personal life choices. This showed us that no matter what you think about your personal choices, they do affect others around you and even your occupation. We also were present at the turn of the century, the millennium, and spent some very important time reflecting on our past accomplishments and the possibilities for the future. We thought about this not only as a nation but also as neighbors to others in our world.

I began to understand that there are others in the same situation as all of us when I read a quote by an eighteen year old girl named Erynn Miller, who is also getting ready to graduate high school, as she said: "It takes a lot of understanding, time, and trust to gain a close friendship with someone. As I approach a time of my life of complete uncertainty, my friends are my most precious asset." Even though we may not believe it now, we will get through this time and remember it as one of the most important parts of our lives that we have now completed together.

History of

On March 23, 1649 Miles Stadish, Samuel Nash, and Constant Southward purchased Old Bridgewater from Massasoit for seven coats, nine hatchets, eight hoes, twenty knives, four moose skins, and ten and a half yards of cotton.

The Reverend James Keith House was built in 1662 and is the oldest parsonage in the United States.

The Howard Seminary was built in 1876 with money left by Benjamin Beal Howard. This yearbook was named for the ivy that was "climbing" the wall of the school.

In 1879, the Soldier's Monument was dedicated to the men from West Bridgewater who died in the Civil War.

West Bridgewater

The triple-arch bridge in the town park was built with key-construction, the stones fit together and no cement was used.

In 1774, Captain John Ames made the first iron shovel in the United States.

The New Centre Grammar school was built for $13,500 in 1908.

A Memorial Day outing was held at the Canoe Club in 1910.

With special thanks to James Benson for his generous contribution of pictures and information.

2000 Dedicatee

Jayson Sylvain was born on November 13, 1975 to Gerard and Karen Sylvain. He is the oldest of three children -Steven and Marissa are his siblings. Jayson attended Simsbury High School in Connecticut. He graduated in 1993. During high school, Jayson ran cross-country and track; he was one of the top ten two-mile runners in the state of Connecticut his senior year.

After high school, Jayson attended Stonehill College in Easton, Massachusetts. He graduated in 1997 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics and Computer Science as well as a minor in Secondary Education. While at Stonehill College, Jayson met his wife Stephanie. They were married in October, 1997.

Also in 1997, Jayson and his wife moved to Massachusetts and he began teaching Math at West Bridgewater Middle/Senior High School. Jayson has also become the cross-country coach as well as the Girls' Track coach.

Jayson Sylvain

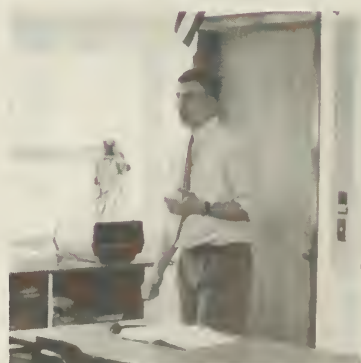

It's never easy to come up with that one person who has significantly influenced your whole class and the real challenge is to have everyone agree. When it came time to make up a ballot for the class to choose from we put everyone into consideration. We even went as far back as third grade so we wouldn't overlook anyone. We then narrowed it down to four candidates for the recognition. Initially, there was some concern that the class as a whole would vote on the basis of who would be the funniest to dedicate our yearbook to. After a lengthy explanation of what it really meant to give someone the honor of having a class dedicate a yearbook to them the votes clearly showed who was, with no exceptions, our real dedicatee.

This individual has shown our class dedication and patience not only in the class room but also outside as well. There have been many times that this individual has been more than willing to make our lives a little easier whether it was simply by helping us out in the class room with school work, agreeing to let the key club demolish his room for the haunted house, or even writing countless recommendations to help us get into the college of our choice. We feel that this individual has a quality that not many people possess. This individual has literally taken a subject that was seemingly incomprehensible to just about ninety percent of us and made it accessible, almost even enjoyable.

This individual came to this school in 1997 which means the class of 2000 had the pleasure of being the first to test his teaching techniques. Like any new teacher we had no idea what we were in for, little did we know that this individual would end up giving our high school transcripts that extra boost that I'm sure everyone appreciated. This individual was well aware that each and every one of us would need to learn these skills whether we liked it or not. Most of us forgot how important it was to actually pay attention until we opened up that long treacherous SAT book that would most assuredly determine if and when we would be going off to college. He even went as far as to let us borrow those big expensive pieces of school equipment that we were all hoping had some kind of special power to get us through the test.

Not only does this individual affect his students lives in the class room but also on the field and with his generosity. Not all of us have had the experience of this individual as a coach but I'm sure that those who have can vouch for them that he adds a welcoming dimension to our sports program and we are very lucky to have him. This individual has also previously participated in such events as the annual volleyball tournament, spirit week, and even chaperoning the homecoming. This teacher is very flexible when asked a favor, especially the night of our senior homecoming. As if giving up his own Saturday night to chaperone a bunch of high school students at a dance wasn't enough, I was a little timid when I needed to ask if he wouldn't mind announcing this year's king and queen and their court. They said sure without even a hint of hesitation, and thanks to him I was let off the hook.

A famous psychologist named Carl Jung captured my feelings about this teacher by saying: "One looks back with appreciation to the brilliant teachers, but with gratitude to those who touched our human feelings. The curriculum is so much necessary new material, but the warmth is the vital element for the growing plant and for the soul of the child." I am honored to reveal to you, the class of 2000, our choice for this years dedicatee, Mr. Jayson Sylvain.

Superintendent of Schools

To the Class of 2000:

Congratulations and best wishes as you leave the halls of West Bridgewater Middle Senior High School and embark upon an exciting and productive future. Your experience here has provided you with the knowledge and skills necessary to continue towards success in a competitive and complicated world. When you take that last step through the doors of West Bridgewater Middle/Senior High School remember that the true measures of accomplishment come from within yourself. Those qualities of high moral and ethical values, respect for one another, and a willingness to help our fellow man are the real indicators of the successful person.

The immortal words of John F. Kennedy reminds us of our responsibility to society

"Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

Administration

Dear Members of the Class of 2000

Your high school graduation, a memory in and of itself, coinciding with the celebration of the new millennium, is truly a once in a lifetime event. Pause for a moment to consider that unlike any other student, class, or generation in history no one else may claim to be a millennium graduate except you.

Both individually and as a group you have left a solid record of achievement for others to try to surpass. You have exceeded the expectations placed upon you in the classroom, in the arts, and on the playing field. You have become skilled and have used those skills wisely to prepare yourselves to succeed in life. The passages which lie ahead will contain even more life challenges which you are well prepared to meet as your futures unfold.

You are entering an era unlike any previously known to mankind, thusly the implications for your futures are enormous.

In looking ahead, I urge you to first look back on the core values embedded within each one of you which will become even more refined as you aspire to live well and fruitfully. Even though the pace of dramatic lifestyle change will escalate even more quickly, you can face the future with both confidence and excitement. You are well prepared to live there – you have already shown us that you can lead the way. As such, irrespective of the change which can envelop one, you know that qualities such as simple decency, perseverance, compassion, and integrity live on to withstand the test of time. These then can be once again relied upon to support your personal goal attainment.

This is your moment. Cherish it and capture the memory.

I join with our faculty, your family, and the community to wish you the very best.

Most Sincerely,

Mr. Leon Liatsos
Principal

The threat of Y2K Bug has come and a gone. Computers still operate, the period bells still ring, and teachers still give out homework. We must not lose sight, however, of the fact that we have entered a new century. As Class of 2000 graduates, you are in the unique situation of starting anew. The slate has been wiped clean, both on the calendar and in your lives. Embrace this fresh start – enroll in college, begin your careers, accept life's challenges as they come. Use your education, your experiences, to write a new chapter in your lives. Utilize what you have learned, both good and bad, to make a positive difference in your own lives and in your community. You are in an enviable position – you have the resources to make things happen, and the youthful energy to carry out your duties as leaders and trendsetters of the new century. Make us proud!

Sincerely,

Ronald C. Broman

"Because we do not know when we will die, we get to think of life as an inexhaustible well. And yet everything happens only a certain number of times and a very small number really. How many more times will you remember a certain afternoon of your childhood. An afternoon that is so deeply a part of your being that you can't even conceive of your life without it? Perhaps four, five times more, perhaps not even that. How many more times will you watch the full moon rise, perhaps twenty and yet it all seems limitless."--Brandon Lee

Memories

*Memories are made of the things
That happen every day ~
Moments as we live them,
Things we do or say.*

*Little bits and pieces
Of laughter mixed with tears,
Paragraphs and pages
Written through the years.*

*The carefree day of childhood,
The growing pains of youth,
A few illusions shattered
In the endless search for truth.*

*The friendships we remember,
Mistakes that we regret,
The ending of a love affair
We never could forget.*

*Yes, memories are happenings ~
Each one a different kind,
Each one a separate chapter
That is printed on the mind.*

*We can't erase the sadness
Or edit out the tears.
We can't undo the wrongs we've done.
We can't relive the years.*

*But since memories keep building,
Each day can be the start
Of making new and happy ones
To store within the heart!*

Predictions for the Millennium

Instead of driving Thunderbirds, we'll all ride cows.

All people, including me, will get fatter.

The world will be ruled by apes.

Man will grow an extra finger on each hand.

"Dragonballs" will be the most watched show in the world.

There will still be "different rules for different people."

School will still be boring.

We'll finally see those flying cars we've been hearing about.

We will be living in space.

People will finally stop talking about that Bill and Monica thing.

The "Casa de Reyes" will still smell.

There will still be nothing to do in West Bridgewater.

Albert's children will attend W.B.H.S.

The Fun Factory will be the chill spot.

The Jackson Five will make a comeback.

Mike Mullett will be the next Jerry Rice.

We will all carry our cars around in suitcases; just like the Jetsons.

There will still be broken wooden seats in the auditorium.

We will drive flying cars and live in bubble cities underwater.

There will never be anymore snow days.

People will still chant funny songs in the hall.

People will become so diverse that everyone will be truly unique.

We will all turn into the Jetsons.

Nothing will change - everything will stay the same.

I predict good times, fun snacks, and neat tricks.

All the continents will shift together and form a huge AMERICA.

People will eat dirt for nutrients.

In the new Millennium, nothing is going to change.

Predictions for 2010

- I, Melissa Menton, see myself in 10 years driving my new mercedes to the book signing of my best seller.
- I, Shannon Doiron, see myself in 10 years as an EMT guest starring on ER.

- I, Justin Roberts, see myself in 10 years washing and waxing my brand new huffy.
- I, Michelle Bartlett, see myself in 10 years in my studio apartment having tea-time, pinning dresses I designed on my girls for reunion, telling them about the Oscars and actresses I've met, about my Italian husband, and laughing at the good old days.
- I, Paul Hebard, see myself in 10 years as a developer of computers and still chillin' with friends.
- I, Jacob Sullivan, see myself in 10 years on leave chillin' with John and Eric, listening to the Beastie Boys, and playing some Tony Hawk.
- I, Martin Blanchard, see myself in 10 years chillin' with my friends and on the Tour making a living.
- I, Andrea Norville, see myself in 10 years with Kate in Delixir Sorbano's freak circus, along with the "Breathing Salami."
- I, Bill Rudolph, see myself in 10 years tossin' salad in the Produce Department.
- I, Justin Potwin, see myself in 10 years as far away from here as possible.
- I, Rachel Abrams, see myself in 10 years as being very happy and successful.
- I, Jennifer Nersessian, see myself in 10 years with the "J-kids" and being very happy.
- I, Becky Russell, see myself in 10 years rushing home from tea-time with my girls to my wonderful husband, great children, and enormous beach house.
- I, Nicole Pierce, see myself in 10 years married to the bum who's pushing a shopping cart down Main Street in Brockton and sleeping at Charlie Chan's.
- I, Shawn Lundin, see myself in 10 years being very successful at my job and living a happy life.
- I, Chris Austin, see myself in 10 years turning in cans for money to go out and party.
- I, Terence LaBelle, see myself in 10 years just a touch more mature than I am now.
- I, Morgan Hefler, see myself in 10 years as the most wealthiest, famous, and beautiful exhibitionist in the entire universe.
- I, Justin Anderson, see myself in 10 years living the life and very wealthy.
- I, Jennifer Eldeb, see myself in 10 years with the "J-kids" and driving a BMW.
- I, Joe Bottini, see myself in 10 years being a champion pro-midget wrestler.
- I, Ronnie Fortin, see myself in 10 years being the Disk Jockey on MTV's "The Grind."
- I, Sharon Tesaro, see myself in 10 years at the bottom of the carnies working as a contortionist.
- I, Lindsey Leitao, see myself in 10 years being very successful and being friends with Trent Reznor.
- I, Keith Ross, see myself in 10 years sitting in a lazy-boy, watching Joe compete in midget wrestling, and figuring out what to do with the rest of my life.
- I, Mike Holland, see myself in 10 years being a successful and rich person.
- I, Jacy Everett, see myself in 10 years sitting on the throne, throwing wet paper towels back at Ron, Marty, Mike, Shawn, and Chris.
- I, Emily Thurston, see myself in 10 years talking about my column in Cosmo on Boston Common while sipping tea with my girls.
- I, Cindy Aubele, see myself in 10 years stressing out over my next production and trying to find someone to understand me.
- I, Kelli Smith, see myself in 10 years at the very top of the carnies working as a bareback rider.
- I, Loren McMullen, see myself in 10 years rushing home from the television studio to make dinner for my Italian husband and my wonderful children.
- I, Rachel Abrams, see myself in 10 years still good friends with Stacie and her dancing and lip-synching to my music on the radio.

To all members of the Editorial Board:

It has been a ride...a roller coaster ride at best! We had times of great productivity and times of "sit-and-wait". Each and every one of you has something to be proud of in the success of this book. I have seen leadership arise from ashes and dedication go to extremes. Without you this book would not have happened. As we enter a new millennium we wish you all the best that the world has to offer. Use your talents wisely.

FOUNDATION OF EXCELLENCE

"Tentative efforts lead to tentative outcomes.

Therefore

give yourself fully to your endeavors.

Decide to construct your character through excellent actions and determine to pay the price of a worthy goal.

The trials you encounter will introduce you to your strengths.

*Remain steadfast... and one day you will build something that endures;
something worthy of your potential."*

Dear Mr. Nenos,

Thank you very much for your time and effort. The leg work you've done was much appreciated. On behalf of the class, I thank you for the sacrifice of your time so that our yearbook could be paid for and received on time. Not bad for your first year.

Sincerely,
Rachel Abrams

Dear Mrs. Kenrick and Mrs. Shmeer,

At the end of last year, many of us signed up to be a part of yearbook production. We were full of ideas and anxious to get started. When we returned as seniors in the fall, it was yearbook time. There was only one problem ~ "Who's going to be our advisor?" A few of us sought out to get some answers. However it happened, it happened. There was a meeting for all who wanted to be dedicated to making this happen. First thing we found out was that the applications for positions were lost in the shuffle and we were two months behind deadline. We were assigned our positions and we chose a cover. The process was under way. Some worked harder than others, and some took on many positions. Oh well, it just the way things happen. The most important thing is that those who worked on this book helped to get it done and done well. We hope that you both have the satisfaction that we do in working to create the "Millennium Edition Climber". Thank you so much for all of your help and guidance. You taught us so much from business management to life skills. We truly and gratefully appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Nersessian and Rachel Abrams

Seattle, Washington

Flash

The public and private sectors spend hundreds of millions of dollars to ward off the Y2K bug. The world lets out a sigh of relief after midnight strikes and no major computer malfunctions occur.

The FBI warns of possible terrorist acts on New Year's Eve and stays on national alert throughout the celebration. After the arrest of one man with bomb-making materials, Seattle decides to cancel its Space Needle celebration.

⬤ Fearing the collapse of the world's banks, utilities and transportation systems, thousands of people stock up on food, water, money, ammunition and generators. After midnight, it soon becomes apparent that the preparations were unnecessary.

⬤ A surprising number of people, appalled by the exorbitant costs of travel and events, decide to stay home on New Year's Eve. Many companies and performers drastically slash prices as a last-minute lure.
